

Financial Analyst - Early Career

Cascadia Capital:

Cascadia Capital is a team of client-focused, trusted advisors with deep expertise in a broad range of industries. We partner with our clients to deliver results based on our industry domain expertise, transaction experience, and commitment to long-term relationships. We're different from most investment banks because our advice is not conflicted by lending, trading, research or cross-selling business.

Cascadia is seeking an early career Analyst to join our team. This is a unique opportunity to join a thriving practice and play a key role in Cascadia's continued growth and success. The early career Analyst will be responsible for producing, with collaboration from the team, high quality first drafts of marketing and pitch materials that accurately reflects market opportunity, the client's strategic positioning and business, and compelling financial analysis that support the overall value proposition of the opportunity.

The Ideal Candidate Will Have the Following Skills and Experience

- Excellent financial and data analysis skills
- Resourceful, creative and highly organized
- Strong written and verbal communication skills
- Ability to apply strategic thinking to everyday work
- Strong quantitative and technical skills
- Strong Microsoft Office programs knowledge and skills
- Clear understanding of accounting concepts
- Self-motivated, proactive work habits
- An effective communicator, able to adapt communication style to different audiences
- Team player, strong ability to collaborate and deliver clear and consistent results
- Excellent attitude, professional demeanor
- Experience and knowledge of investment banking a plus, but not required
- BA/ BS degree.

We would enjoy the opportunity to speak with you further about this role.
